

"SURE I LIKE WORKING
FOR THE AMERICAN
THREAD COMPANY..."

"The way I'm treated means a lot to me. A fellow likes to feel that the people he works for appreciate him and recognize when he is doing a good job and turning out good work. That's just the way it's been in my twenty-five years with American Thread. The company treats me right—I've got good machines to work with—I've got a good place to work in. A fellow couldn't ask for much more."

Victor Turcotte

This package dyeing machine is typical of the modern equipment used throughout The American Thread Company mills at Willimantic, Connecticut. Machines such as these and people who know and like their jobs help maintain a high level of quality in products of The American Thread Company.
